How to report an incident of hate crime –

In an Emergency, if you are in danger, call the Police on 999.

Non-Emergencies can be reported to the police by calling 101.

If you have been a victim of hate crime please report it to the police by phone or go to your nearest police station. There is a specialist police team dedicated to hate crime, the Islington Police Community Safety Unit, who will investigate an incident once it has been reported.

What is hate crime?

Hate incidents and hate crime are acts directed at people because of who they are or who someone thinks they are. You may have been a victim of hate crime if you have been attacked, abused or treated differently because of:

- Race
- Faith/religion
- Sexual orientation
- Disability
- Transgender identity
